In the toxic fog of endless sunshine and Hollywood hooligans, Los Angeles has always been the melting pot of society.

Depicted is a voyeuristic envision of a night out of a misfit who wanders the neon lit night scene of Sunset Strip, the Valley and East Hollywood.

In a city filled with mental illness, the tone of the photographs depict a dream state of West Hollywood and the undertone of urban decay and of how sinister it can be.

She is a complicated person and beautifully tragic, Like LA itself, the occupants of this wasteland invite tragedy into their life to feel like everyone else.
