Do you find that most of the rest of the office are completely ignorant as to what it is you IT guys do all day ? Well slap this on their desktop background to help educate !

Editor's note : As an ex-IT guys (15 years in system administration), this infographic is really oversimplifying things, but I guess for non-IT people it is just the perfect thing. Also, putting the sysadmin in the hardware specialists section ? Really ? We should be included in each section of this infographic !
